College Student Chaperone Applications

for young adults in their 2nd year out of high school and older

- Please write a brief statement describing the impact that Montreat Summer Youth Conferences have had on your life (if not Montreat than another church-related experience)
- Please briefly describe how you handle conflict and confrontation.
- Are there any special issues or concerns happening in your life right now that would have an impact in your commitment and involvement in Montreat Summer Youth Conferences?

It is important for college student chaperones to understand that Montreat is a week for the youth. In everything that is said and done, the youth should be put first. It is the responsibility of college student chaperones to be the adult in situations, to showcase themselves as a role model for proper Christian life and to set themselves apart from the youth. While many of you have experienced Montreat as a youth, it is important to realize that for this trip, you will be considered an adult and are expected to behave in such a manner that showcases maturity and wisdom. This week belongs to the youth- they will be the leadership for devotions, for our extra curricular activities (such as the dance) and throughout the week's programs.
